ART STUDIO 55

ART STUDIO 55
EDEN CENTRAL SCHOOL
September, 1943 - June, 1955

For us, the "Class of 1955," our beautiful school has been a busy art studio of life in which we, the amateur artists, during twelve happy years, have been painting in glowing colors a picture of the future we are planning for ourselves. Around the gallery of our studio we have hung pictures to represent all the various master artists who have inspired us in our work and the materials which they have taught us to use.

The cover of our "Embers" shows three final additions to the art gallery of our "Art Studio 55," The three plaques indicate honors won for outstanding work in the three major fields of high school life: scholarship, activities, and athletics.

Please open our book and look at the division pages which are the pictures in our gallery. There you will see the Ex Libris, a picture of the materials we are to use in our studio; the Title Page, a reminder of the high ideals of Eden Central in which we hold our studio; the Foreword, our plan which shows us all the thoughtful planning that has been done for our success as artists of education; the Administration, the great artists molding with plastic clay the lives of students; the Seniors, graduates painting the masterpiece, the rainbow of the future; the Grades, the simple representation of simple objects with pencil crayon or paint; the Classrooms, opportunities where materials and aids are ready for the student to paint whatever his ability and ambition prompts him to accomplish; the Activities, pictures in the gallery of several of our activities which any student may choose, and an unfinished picture on which a student has been working in the studio; and Athletics, a picture of the Discus Thrower or Discobolus, to represent perfection in strength or skill.

As you follow us through our book and note all the plans, the preparation, and the loving care that our master artists have taken to give us inspiration, ideals, and fundamentals, you must share with us our hopes and confidence that we shall paint, in some field of noble endeavor, what each of us may call a masterpiece.

FOREWORD

DEDICATION

MR. JOHN LUNDBERG

ONCE there was a high school art teacher who longed to produce a great masterpiece, but he was too busy helping his students to realize their dreams, to work on his own masterpiece either in oils, clay, or marble.

Though he never produced what the world calls a masterpiece, he sent out into the world boys and girls with a love in their hearts and eyes of art in all its beauty. They were his masterpiece.

This man is Mr. John Lundberg, our busy art teacher, our friend, and our constant helper. To you, Mr. Lundberg, we, the class of 1955, dedicate our yearbook, "Embers."

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

SINCE the beginning of time, art has been one of the chief mediums by which mankind has expressed its feelings. Since the way we feel affects the way we act and live, art throughout the ages has had a tremendous influence on civilization. It affects both the artist and the person beholding the work of art.

The senior class of 1955 is to be congratulated upon using as its theme such an important aspect of the life of mankind.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

IN pausing to formulate a bit of advice to you, departing seniors, I am reminded of a little philosophy as written by Henry Van Dyke:

"Four things a man must learn to do
If he would make his record true:
To think without confusion clearly;
To love his fellow men sincerely;
To act with honest motives purely;
To trust in God and heaven securely."

My advice to you would be to follow these four points as made by Henry Van Dyke and yours will be a happy and profitable future.

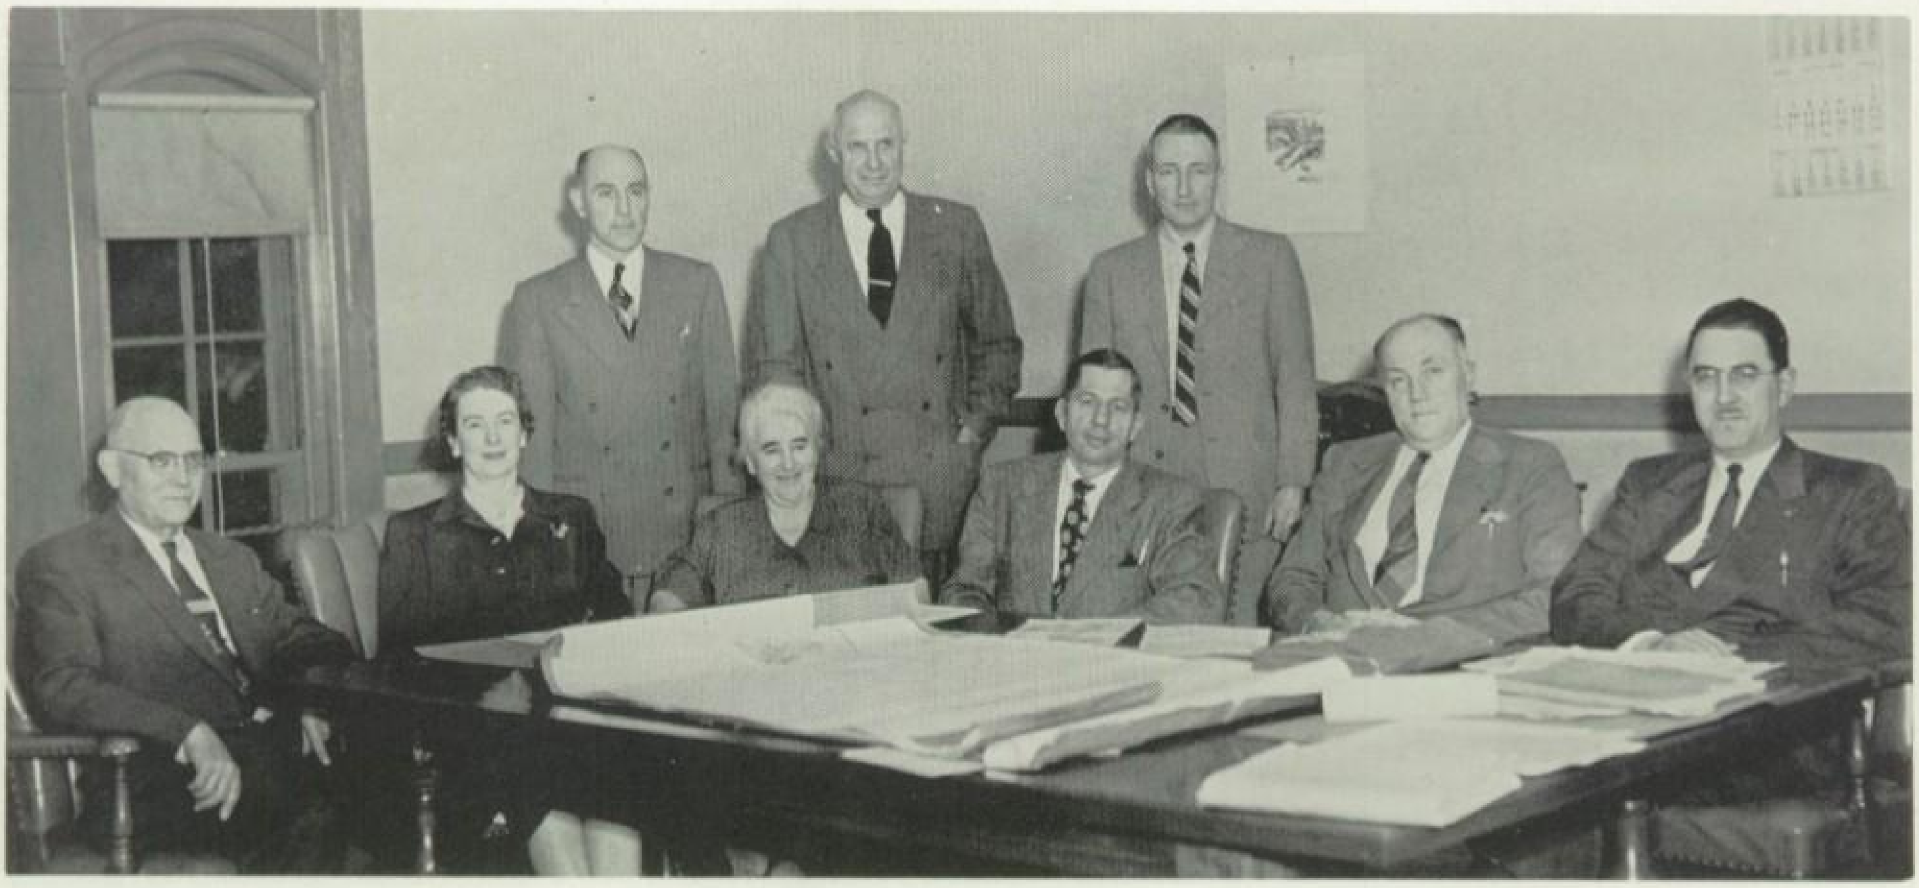
BOARD OF EDUCATION



Seated: Mr. Robert Brindley, Mrs. Doris Smith, Miss Rose Clark, Mr. John Weinar, Mr. Frank O'Day, Mr. Raymond Kirst. Standing: Mr. Donald J. Anderson, Mr. Edwin C. Peck, Mr. William Carroll. Absent: Mr. Herman Agle.

AS an amateur artist must have expert instruction and guidance before he produces his masterpiece, so our school must have great master artists to guide us and mold for us the plan for our school life, our design for living. This very necessary and important function belongs to our Board of Education. It is to Mr. Weinar, our president, and the other members of the Board of Education that we owe many of our privileges here in school.

They have provided us with a beautifully equipped building, fine teachers, excellent courses of study, and a large number of extracurricular activities. The Board has allowed us to go on field trips to illustrate and supplement our knowledge and understanding of our school courses. To insure our safety they instituted a course in driver education and provided for two classes of swimming each week at South Park, one for beginners and one for advanced students.

The members gave their permission for the Student Council to allow the students to govern themselves and to allow us to prepare ourselves for the future by gaining experience in student government. We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for all the Board of Education has done for us, not only in the past year, but all during our years at Eden Central. The entire district is deeply grateful for the new grade school.

PARENT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Mr. Frank O'Day presides at the monthly meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association.

THE Parent Teachers' Association, an organization of master artists, has had an active and successful year molding friendship and good fellowship. A membership drive was launched early in the school year. Programs to acquaint the parents with the services of the school were presented; a panel discussion of parents and educators on educational aims was held and several programs on travel and folk arts were offered. A well-attended Open House brought parents and teachers together on understanding terms.

A record attendance at this annual event delighted the committee. Parents expressed themselves as particularly concerned about their children's scholastic progress and stressed the importance in their estimation of a good basic curriculum. They opposed any extracurricular activity which would lower scholastic standards.

The social event of the year was the gala Parent-Teachers' Association dance and social. The receipts were used to purchase the flagpole for the new primary school. Our scholarship fund also received the money realized in the annual Parcel Post Sale. The Parent-Teachers' Association feels that friendship and understanding between parents and teachers is indispensable to the work of guiding and instructing the young.

PATIENT, ever prepared to give us extra instruction, always willing to chaperone our dances, sports, or other extracurricular activities, our faculty have shown they are willing to aid us. It is to them that we owe much gratitude for each successful year in school. The teachers, as the accomplished master artists of the world, instill us, the young amateur artists, who are just beginning our artistic careers, with a sense of responsibility that will serve us well in the world after we have left the protection of our school years. Often a special difficulty arises because students are unable to grasp fully the contents of a course. By staying after school hours to give these students that extra little bit of instruction they need, our teachers show their desire to see us make good. The faculty is always very willing to supervise or serve as advisors for our extracurricular activities. We, at Eden Central, feel that we are very fortunate to have a faculty that is so truly concerned and interested, not only in our work in class, but also in our activities outside of school. We want them to know that we deeply and sincerely appreciate all their efforts to mold our characters and raise our ideals to a lofty standard.

THE destiny of our nation lies in the hands of those who teach its children, for it is the teachers who act as the artists sketching the characters and molding the personalities of the leaders of the world of tomorrow. The responsibility, the devotion to duty, and the confidence in the future are instilled in the children from their first year of school by their grade school teachers. The grade school faculty strive very diligently to instruct their students in reading, science, social studies, and mathematics, and encourage them to take a lively interest in the important events and happenings of the world around them. Art, music, sports, creative hobbies--these talents and interests and many more are stressed and encouraged in the children to assist them in making themselves more versatile, well-rounded persons as they progress toward adulthood in their educations. Each teacher is able to take an active personal interest in the future of each of her pupils, since she has many meetings with the parents to discuss the children's aptitudes, capabilities and interests. Through these methods the grade school faculty are very well prepared to equip the children under them with the essentials of a good education and to prepare them for their roles as the artists of the future.

GUIDANCE

Mr. Olney, J. Russ.

THE door of the guidance office is never closed; it is always open to those students who wish to seek advice about their school work or their plans for the years ahead. Mr. Olney, our competent guidance counselor, has never been too busy to help students decide whether to go to work or college, which college to attend, what career to follow, and what kind of job to seek. By his meeting with both parents and students to discuss the students' desires, his needs, and his capabilities, Mr. Olney has greatly aided us in shaping and molding our futures, much as a sculptor molds his clays.

CAFETERIA

Mrs. Miller, Mrs. O'Bryant, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Shepker, Miss Capozzi, Mrs. Koepka, Mrs. Krohn.

WHO hasn't waited impatiently for lunch period and a delicious hot lunch? Miss Theresa Capozzi and her efficient staff have been busy preparing various foods for students and faculty members, washing dishes, and filling salt and pepper shakers all year long. These are only a few of the things among the many tasks performed each day by these artists of the culinary skills. The seniors will not forget the willingness of the kitchen staff to help in the successful planning and serving of the Senior Fish Dinner.

CLINIC

Dr. Martin, F. Boyce, Miss Gressman, D. Ball, J. Shouldice.

THE main purpose of our clinic is to guard the students of Eden Central against the many diseases present in our world today. The clinic has given polio immunization to children in the first, second, and third levels for the past two years. Our sports participants and cheerleaders are given thorough physical examinations each year before they are permitted to participate in any sport. The credit for all these services must go to Miss Pauline Gressman, our capable nurse, and to Dr. Ronald Martin, our school physician.

DENTAL HYGIENIST

Miss Schiller, K. Agle.

THE many flashing white smiles seen around school are ample evidence of the excellent way Miss Schiller, our dental hygienist, has taken care of the students' teeth. Careful annual check-ups of every student by Miss Schiller have helped to keep our mouths in a healthy condition. By demonstrating to us the results of the proper care of our teeth, Miss Schiller has made many of us realize that besides being attractive, bright well-cared for teeth are also an asset to all of us, physically, mentally, and socially. Healthy teeth made a definite contribution to a pleasing personality.

BUS DRIVERS

First Row: Mr. Storey, Mr. Mroz, Mr. Wierzba. Second Row: Mr. Winkleman, Mr. Wittmeyer, Mrs. Wible, Mr. Winter, Mr. Bauer. Absent: Mr. Wilcox, Mr. Wittmeyer, Mr. Garlock.

OUR sincere thanks go to our faithful bus drivers. In their hands lies the responsibility for the safety and care of those who depend on bus service to get to school each morning. To be better prepared to meet these responsibilities and to meet sudden emergencies, the bus drivers have been attending special night school classes conducted by Mr. Nelson. Several experts in the training of bus drivers were present at some of the classes. Mr. Ormsby, Superintendent of Schools, is in charge of the training program.

CUSTODIANS

Mr. Benkelman, Mr. Kaufman, Mr. Knoll. Absent: Mr. Woyjeck, Mr. Horton, Mr. Shouldice.

THE janitorial staff of Eden Central plays an important role in maintaining the appearance of the school building. The custodians are always in the building after dances, movies, basketball games, and many other extracurricular activities, to prepare the school for the next day's classes. These after school activities necessitate irregular hours for the custodians. Too often we forget to show appreciation for the work of the custodians who deserve much more for their efforts. The seniors remember and are grateful to these friends.

ADULT EDUCATION

MR. FOROSCIJ, DIRECTOR

AMERICANIZATION CLASS

THE Adult Education advisory committee was formed this past year with the following members: Mrs. Ivan Hammond, Mrs. Richard Polasik, Mr. Kenneth Savage, Mr. Joseph Kwilos, and Mr. Ralph LeFevre. This group assisted in organizing classes, promoting campaigns, and in general, informing the public of the Eden Central Adult Education program. With Mr. Foroscij as director, they have completed their ninth successful year in our community.

One of the projects undertaken by the committee was to send a member of the Americanization class to Albany to watch the State Government in action. Mrs. Alfrieda Looze, a German war bride residing in this community, was chosen to attend this session in Albany. Upon returning, she spoke before many community groups telling of her experiences. All expenses were covered by the generous contributions of various community organizations. The apprenticeship training program was carried out this year with courses in methods and time measurement, mechanical drawing, and welding, sharing the limelight. Driving, typing, physical education, and home economics were included in this program. A total number of eighteen classes took part in this adult education program, --this being the largest participation in the organization's history. The art of arranging and executing the night school program is of extreme importance to the entire community.

CLASS HISTORY

ONE bright September morning in 1942, K. Agle, S. Beehler, A. Bugenhagen, E. Cheney, D. Gallman, D. Gould, E. Gould, E. Haier, M. Haven, James Miller, Joyce Miller, M. Phatiger, P. Rice, J. Shepker, R. Smith, and C. Thompson journeyed to school to begin their first great lesson in our art studio.

First grade separated us into two groups and also brought us two new friends, J. Bauer and J. Euler. We soon began to understand fundamental numerical problems, and not only did we master them; but we toiled over spelling and writing our names. Miss Boardman's little bell calling us at recess will never be forgotten.

In the next five years our grade school teachers sketched many things in our minds that were to help us in the future. P. Rice lived in Mexico a few months in 1945. She wrote to many of us and made us more interested in history. In fourth grade we presented a Thanksgiving play about the Pilgrims. Fifth grade proved to turn toward music. J. Bauer, S. Beehler, E. Cheney, M. Phatiger, and W. Schassar began B flat clarinet lessons. Flute and drum lessons also began for K. Agle and H. Case respectively. Sixth grade brought great interest in science. Through the help of Mr. Collard, we obtained two hamsters. The members of the class took turns taking care of them. New friends, D. Adrion, H. Case, C. DeBoi, J. Dempsey, V. DiMaria, W. Heisler, S. Hoag, J. Kasinski, D. Mehs, R. Nehring, N. Neifer, C. Richardson, W. Schassar, and B. Serena joined us in these primary grades.

Junior High was a new pattern for us. New additions in these three years to follow were C. Novick, S. Spence, L. Dayka, L. Pontius, R. Stevenson, J. Szmanda, W. Alfrets, B. Thiel, D. Pepper, M. Kobiolka, B. Blust, and A. Kuczka. Home Economics and Industrial Arts instilled useful pointers for future reference. As 8th Graders, we learned sportsmanship in intramurals. Our first year in high school will always be remembered. Joyce Miller was elected President of Junior High Student Council. We started our treasury with our first big dance. M. Phatiger, as our first cheerleader, made us very proud.

Our Sophomore Hop, "Frost Time Festival" was very successful. N. Dell, Y. Fox, D. Krause, C. Ringer, G. Slaughenhaupt, D. Tronolone, and J. Wrobleski, our new class members, were soon part of the studio gang.

We were proud to have a new comer, Joan Cassata, an attendant at the Junior Prom. The Prom was January 29, with J. Shepker as Queen and S. Beehler, C. Thompson, and M. Phatiger as the other attendants. The expected enthusiasm over the arrival of the class rings was greater than ever. During the year Donna Clancy joined our artists.

Our last year has been one of progress. A new high goal, $3,000, was established in our magazine sale. Fish dinners, dances, and various class projects were successful in obtaining our hard-earned money, which made our Washington Trip and the printing of our "Embers" possible.

The "Embers" staffs are to be congratulated for the many worried and hurried hours they spent on the yearbook. We are thankful for the devoted hours and sacrifices Mrs. Pierce has given us to make a successful year.

As the memories of scenes here at E.C.S. pass through our minds, we are reminded that our hardest goal lies before us, as the unfinished masterpiece awaits the artist.

THE Junior Class started off their year with the election of officers. They were as follows: President, Robert Kehe; Vice President, George Zittel; Secretary and Treasurer, James Messer. Through excellent class co-operation, they have carried out many successful activities, such as movies, and the highlight of the year, 1955, the Junior Prom, "Wonderland Fantasy." The class has participated in all of the extracurricular activities with as much enthusiasm as has been shown in their subjects. If the enthusiasm and co-operation of the class continue, these artists will meet the responsibilities of their senior year and later life with the initiative and spirit which has kept our nation strong. The Juniors are thankful to Mr. Ball, Mr. Lundberg, and Mr. Lawless for their advice throughout the year.

THE artists of tomorrow are in the Sophomore Class of Eden Central School. They have various talents, interests, and activities--clever artists, fine musicians, future homemakers, budding craftsmen, potential scientists and young businessmen. But the Sophomores' interests did not lie only in their studies. They have also made their marks in athletics as was seen by the many Sophomore participants in basketball, baseball, football, cheerleading and track. Their Sophomore Hop, "Autumn Silhouette" united the class in many pleasant hours of preparation. Wherever there is worthwhile activity, one can find the Sophomores. The class wish to thank their advisors, Mrs. Brenneman, Miss Murphy, and Mr. Duffy, the master artists, who helped them to sketch such a pleasant scene of this year.

A DIFFICULT curriculum is being followed by the Freshmen this year. Latin has been introduced for the first time into the ninth grade program. The boys and girls have been represented in athletic and music organizations. Class spirit prompted them to choose the fabulous unicorn as the class mascot. These unicorns, designed and made by the students themselves, were worn as the Freshmen insignia. At the first project of their high school career, the Freshman dance, each committee readily and eagerly learned the techniques and arts to organize a successful dance. The success of the dance proved their efforts were not in vain. Under the guidance of Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Christensen, Miss Witzleben, and Miss Collins, the Freshmen have enjoyed a busy year, and are looking forward to their Sophomore Year.

THREE homerooms under the supervision of Mrs. Hannan, Mrs. Semson, and Mr. Mazuca were used for an unusually large eighth grade this year. The students of each homeroom elected their class officers and so prepared themselves as the graduating class of 1959 by uniting on various appeal drives and supporting school functions. Their further-enriched school curriculum has made it easier for the students to decide their future courses of study. Many of the boys were among the members of our Junior Varsity sports squads, even though they couldn't participate in inter-school games. The girls were numerous in their support of the F.H.A. Club. Their main objective was to seek further changes in the Student Council Constitution so that more eighth graders could attend senior high school functions.

BY looking at any striking design or picture, we will find that it is composed of many small parts carefully fitted together to form the finished picture. The seventh grade pupils have entered upon a project which will, under the direction of Mr. A. Gray, L. Foroscij, M. Dash, E. Collard, take them six years to fashion. English, social studies, music, gym, homemaking, shop, math, science, and art must all be completed to produce the beautiful effect of the pattern of life and education. This work, however, has not ruled out extracurricular activity for the seventh graders. Band, chorus, and intramurals were only a few of the many activities in which they participated. By creating a balance between studies and activities, they have learned early in life the value of a well-rounded school program.

THE students in Mr. Griffin's room, 241, have enjoyed an adventurous year in academic and handicraft work. "Pretend trips" to faraway lands have helped them to better understand the people of those places. In science, the class actually built a fire with flint and stone. Experiences in woodworking, painting, and paper sculpturing added to their knowledge of art. Each passing day with its new adventures better prepared them to meet the requirements for a successful life in Junior High School.

MRS. GOULD'S class, in Room 242, has carried on many interesting activities during the year. The art classes have furnished much enjoyment for all; namely, the making of three dimensional pictures, Thanksgiving faces with paper, and spatter paint Halloween work. Very good work has been done in our regular class subjects too. Since September, one boy has moved away and a new girl has entered the class. She was born in Germany, and she has told the group many interesting things about her life in Europe.

INTEREST in Miss Saunder's room, 240, was motivated by correlating our class work and our art projects. Cartoon drawings was one of the students' favorite mediums. In social studies the pupils have been very busy learning about the Ancient World, Europe, Asia, Australia and Africa. Responsibilities were shared by individuals and groups, thus developing initiative and leadership in the students. Everybody has worked hard and studied diligently in the hope of graduating in June from the Elementary School into the Junior High.

OUR year with Mrs. Lemmler, in Room 245, has been an exciting and busy one. We have learned many more facts about the vast United States and its many possessions. Our visits to nearby plants have helped us to better understand the importance of an education and the workings of the intricate machines. Although our class has lived in an overcrowded room, we have still been able to carry on many projects. Our dioramas formed an interesting exhibit for our parents to view on Open House Night.

IN Mrs. Stevens' room attention has centered on citizenship education-----learning the factors which have made our country powerful, and learning of the role we play as citizens. Films were shown of men who contributed to our country's progress---Daniel Boone, Thomas Jefferson, Lewis and Clark. At Thanksgiving, students of Room 254 took part in a tableau depicting the "Origin of Thanksgiving." Many of our students showed an increased interest in school activities by joining Boys' Choir, Girls' Chorus and band.

FIFTH grade social studies was very intriguing to most of us in Mrs. Wilson's room, 243, because we learned more about the history of our country. While studying about the Pilgrims, we presented a play entitled "Jonathan's Thanksgiving" at an assembly for the intermediate grades. We had so much fun practicing that we were sorry when it was over. One of our projects was making envelopes to keep our report cards clean. Our class has also taken a trip to the Ford Plant to watch cars being assembled.

ALL the students have shown an interest this year in "How Things Began." Through books, pictures, and discussion, we have studied about the beginning of our country, Colonial days, early farming, and the growth of large cities in the United States. These and other beginnings of world importance have held our interest this year. We, in Miss Boardman's room, 247, have written stories about these events and have performed experiments such as making electro magnets and showing how liquids rise into a plant's leaves.

AN interest in the meaning of citizenship has been developed, in Mrs. Eisele's room, through our studies of our country's early days and its early settlers. We, the miniature artists of Room 250, have concentrated on learning to express ourselves with riddles and stories, both orally and in writing, stimulating our interest in reading while broadening our abilities with basic reading skills. Weekly trips to our school library introduced us to the many things we can discover through books.

BY journeying in our imaginations to cities across the country, we spent many enjoyable hours and increased our knowledge of the history and geography of our country. Making notebooks on music data helped us understand our music studies. Our reading activities in Mrs. Hauth's room, 249, have been furthered this year by much library work; so we are well prepared to advance in our studies next year. Through our art classes we have gained a sense of design and an introduction to different mediums.

AMERICA and famous men and women who have made our country great have been concentrated on this year in Miss Wilson's room, 246. The children enjoyed learning about the colonial and pioneer periods. Through pencil and crayon illustrations, murals were made on the history of travel, automobiles, and airplanes. Art projects added spice and color to the year's work. There were correlations with social studies, and seasonal activities. Daily story periods fostered a love of books and reading.

EXPRESSION has been the primary aim in Mrs. Blakely's room. To help us accomplish this aim, we stressed the language arts. Just as art is a means of expression, language is a means of progress. Growth in personality results when proper conditions are provided for the stimulation of language. Our program in Room 180 tried to develop skills in the various aspects of expression. Thus, we had an enriched program of reading, writing, thinking, taking field trips, acting and doing.

MISS BROWN'S room has had a large reading project this year. In correlation with reading activities, we studied such varied topics as the Pilgrims, Washington's Birthday, and the Dutch people, to build a rich basic reading vocabulary. Along with this, Room 130 learned multiplication and many of the measures used every day. Whenever possible, we have tried to correlate our art and music activities, since we know that art is a way to develop our minds, as well as a means of expression.

MUCH emphasis was placed upon a more integrated program this year in language arts in Miss Poniatowski's room. This program was designed to fit each child's level of maturity. Through this course of study and enriching experiences in other subjects, individual needs were more fully met. It was our hope in Room 179, to help each child find success in his accomplishments no matter how small. Above all, our goal was to better prepare the children for group living and good citizenship.

WE are primarily concerned this year in Mrs. Rothe's room, 102, with enabling each pupil to build the power to read with adequate understanding and make good use of ideas gained from reading. As art develops an interest in expression, reading is used to provide a wide variety of worthwhile materials. The pupil is taught techniques which enable him to identify syllables and use the sounds associated with them. This provides the child with the skills required for effective study of other school subjects.

ROOM 196 has had a very successful year under the direction of Mrs. Karr and Mrs. Forsyth. We have improved our reading skills and learned to write our names. We especially enjoyed the units on the lives of the Indians and the seasons. The completion of the new school especially pleased us because we are one of the groups who are housed in it. The architecture of the new building is another added attraction of this year. Altogether we have spent an enjoyable and profitable year in our room.

EMPHASIS has been placed on the fine arts this year in Mrs. Holden's class, Room 105. Many of us are good readers and read many library books. We also learned poems and songs, and how to write stories and letters. At Halloween there was the animation of putting on a play entitled "The Shadow Show." At Christmas we made a book of songs and poems, with original illustrations, for our mothers. We exchanged gifts and made glittery painted pine cones and pinwheel decorations for our Christmas tree.

HARD work has been stressed this year in our reading activities. We have been doing many exciting things such as: group work, social reading, and library book work. Excitement and planning for our part in the Halloween assembly program began early in the year. We decided to be ghosts and recited "The Goblin." At Christmas time Mrs. Krempa helped us make decorations for our tree in Room 107. We have enjoyed art activities for all the seasons. Our culminating activity for the year was a trip to the zoo.

GOOD reading has been stressed in Mrs. Walter's room, and we have worked hard toward higher reading goals so that we may be better pupils when we enter the higher levels of learning. Our class has kept busy reading library books to further their experiences needed for reading. Mr. Haug, the grade school art instructor, helped us make snow pictures with tempera paints and sparkling glitter. Working and playing together in Room 194 has proved a profitable lesson in citizenship. We expect to take a big trip to climax our year.

THIS year Mrs. Jeffe's class in Room 189, studied our country and learned about Mexico, our neighboring country to the south. The Christmas season was probably the most joyful time of the whole school year for us. We enjoyed our beautiful room decorations and especially the lovely art work and paintings on the windows and in the halls. We learned many winter safety rules and practices. Our reading activities were not neglected. We are looking forward to another year of study and pleasure.

READINESS in Miss McIntyre's room, 131, has been our program for all avenues of learning. Interest was first aroused in reading and numbers by the use of charts, pictures, stories and concrete objects, and in language arts by movies, records and stories. After certain basic skills were acquired, a formal program was begun. The children were eager to tell of their experiences during our daily "Show and Tell Time." Block building, painting, games, puzzles, and playing in our doll corner were part of our daily program.

DURING the year Mrs. Morgester's class, in Room 135, has finished several important projects. The children have helped to keep the room decorated for Christmas and other special holidays, by doing the decorations and art work themselves. Three times during the year we have a big birthday party with refreshments. By the close of the year every child has received a cake with a candle. An activity we are eagerly anticipating is our trip to a dairy to find out how milk is prepared for us to drink.

THROUGH the happy experiences of Dick, Jane, and Sally in our new basic reading series, the children in Mrs. Smith's class, Room 123, are learning to be strong enthusiastic readers. Working together with our classmates is a very important factor in good school adjustment. We like to think of our class as a big school family, learning to be thoughtful and considerate. Many experiences, such as trips to the post office, fire hall, and a dairy farm, have helped to make this a worthwhile year.

LITTLE artists in Room 121 carried on an extensive reading program at the beginning of this year. With the help of Mrs. Vollentine, they read their pre-primers and their first primer. Concerned with the art of speaking, much emphasis was put on phonics. The group learned to count and write numbers and to become familiar with number facts. We kept a record of the days that passed, on a callendar on the board, and each day wrote a bit of news on the board. Our aquarium consists of fish and several snails.

ACTIVITIES in Room 126 centered around the subject of reading this year. It is an exciting experience. With the help of Miss Wrench, they learned to read and to do new things in art. Finding various scientific articles with their classmates had led to an ever-changing science corner. Many unusual items and specimens have been brought in and interesting experiments watched. The social studies program centered around four big units: the school, the home and family, community helpers, and holidays.

MRS. DAVIDSON'S and Miss Fitzmaurice's kindergarten in Room 197, this year, has undertaken many activities that have developed the background and interests of the children so they will be prepared for the increased responsibilities of the higher arts. To accomplish this, we feel the children should have an abundance of concepts which are real and varied. These concepts are developed through stories and pictures, constructive activities, and field trips, to increase their knowledge of the world around them.

PAINTING, clay modeling, and paper sculpture all enriched our kindergarten program. In our room we built a model "Mayflower" and an Indian tepee. This prompted us to learn the story of the Pilgrims and of the Indians who formerly inhabited this country. During the Christmas season we visited Santa Claus in Buffalo. For many of the children this was the first trip to the city. They were curious about everything from the boats on Lake Erie to riding in an elevator at a department store.

THERE are many arts developed in a child's kindergarten year; one of the most important of these is the art of living together harmoniously. These little people here have the opportunity of working and playing together, sharing old and new experiences, and co-operating with each other, thereby preparing themselves for future experiences. Since kindergarten means a child's garden, that goal is what Mrs. Gerrie and Miss Pack, in Room 198, are trying to attain through the growth of happy well-adjusted children.

STORIES, poems, rhythms, music, and the care of plants and pets were included in our program. We have taken many excursions which include taking a train ride to Buffalo and seeing Santa Claus. We decorated our room with the appropriate decorations for each holiday. For Christmas, Mother's Day, and Father's Day, we made useful gifts for our parents. At Christmas time, especially, we learned to share our fun and work together. These experiences together have taught us to meet any future situations without fear.

THROUGHOUT our six years of English we have been aided and guided by these molders of our literary tastes and correct English background: Mr. Mazuca, Mrs. Hannan, Miss Murphy, Mr. Lawless, and Mrs. Pierce. Besides our constant drill in grammar, spelling, and vocabulary, we have learned to speak correctly, write fluently, think logically, and to appreciate the great masterpieces of literature, the classics. Through this appreciation, we attain a high standard of cultural living.

COMMERCIAL

Standing: Miss Witzleben. First Row: F. Krauss. Second Row: N. Cotten, G. Andres. Third Row: L. Burger, N. Nehring.

UNDER the expert guidance of Miss Witzleben, students learn typing, secretarial practice, shorthand, and transcription. Commercial students are required to learn speed, exactness, and a knowledge of the basic principles of business. Today there are opportunities open to graduates of the Eden business course who have proved themselves efficient, capable, and willing to accept responsibility. We find them working in the surrounding areas of Hamburg and Buffalo. Many work in our hometown, Eden.

LANGUAGES

First Row: M. Phatiger, B. Blust, D. Bower. Second Row: S. Beehler, J. Bauer, J. Messer. Standing: Miss Collins, P. Carpenter, J. Crary.

LANGUAGES are important, not only in many professions but also in bringing about understanding among nations. In the language courses at Eden Central, the students, under Miss Collins's guidance, learn not only French and Latin but also study the civilizations of France and the Roman Empire. To give her students a better glimpse of the foods and cultures of other lands, Miss Collins has taken them to dinner at several of the famous foreign restaurants in Buffalo.

HISTORY

Standing: Mr. Duffy. First Row: M. Kozak, F. Krauss, A. May. Second Row: H. Reid, R. Salzman, J. Sievers, D. Krause, J. Buzak, J. Clark. Third Row: F. Swartz, C. Thompson, P. Work, T. Miller, C. Bornemann.

A KNOWLEDGE of the history, culture and problems of both the United States and other countries of the world is necessary in this age we live in. Mr. Duffy, through his history courses, shows his students how the American heritage of freedom has come about. We also study modern-day problems and happenings. Five E.C.S. students who attended the U.N. Conference, on April 2, at State Teachers' College were as follows: Jane Bauer, Sue Beehler, William Heisler, Dallas Mehs, and Lee Pontius.

BUSINESS

First Row: P. Rice, C. Richardson, Y. Fox, M. Kobiolka.

THE Business Department aims to prepare people to be better citizens in a rapidly changing world. This challenge is met through general and specific business courses such as bookkeeping and business management which are taught by Mr. Ball, an ideal business man. Stress is laid on the three "R's," as well as accuracy, neatness, and speed in business practices and principles. Business students graduate with an understanding, skill, and ability to get along well with others so as to be a credit to themselves and their parents.

MUSIC

Seated: J. Horton, J. Cohoon, B. Radziwon, B. Merchant, G. Johns. Standing: Mrs. Gangi, J. Mohney, J. Haist, L. Slaughenhaupt.

FOR the first time we have two grade school vocal music groups, the Girls' Chorus and the Boys' Choir with emphasis on good musicianship. The choruses, directed by Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Gangi, produced the Spring Concert. The band and orchestra, directed by Mr. Downey, produced the Band Concert and a music assembly in a neighboring school. With election of officers and special rehearsal periods, we hope to bring about good musicianship of which we may be proud.

SCIENCE

First Row: R. Smith, J. Shepker, L. Pontius, M. Phatiger. Second Row: Mr. Varco, E. Gould, J. Dempsey.

CHEMISTRY, physics, and biology constitute the science courses under the instruction of Mr. Varco. Along with the instruction period, in which the students learn the basis of their subject, the classes have an additional period for laboratory work. By working by themselves, the students become acquainted with the practical part of science which is necessary in college or in jobs relating to science. Besides being interesting, science is useful in an atomic world like ours, where it is constantly at work.

AGRICULTURE

Mr. Munger, A. Chiavetta, A. Schmitt, R. Wittemeyer, A. Shaw, R. Geiger.

THE Agriculture Department's aim, under the management of Mr. Munger, is to develop a student who is acquainted with the advances in scientific farming. During the past year, classes visited Weckerle Dairy and Danahy Packing Company in Buffalo to study the marketing of farm produce. The annual trip to Cornell made it possible for the students to see the educational facilities available in the field of agriculture. The milk testing and other similar programs aid the pupil in producing a higher quality dairy product on his home farm.

DRIVER EDUCATION

First Row: B. Gier, M. Phatiger, W. Schassar, N. Cotten. Second Row: W. Heisler, L. Dayka, C. DeBoi, E. Cheney, L. Burger, J. Bauer, S. Beehler, Mr. Nelson.

SINCE skillful driving is a true art, driver education has become a necessary part of our school curriculum. With Mr. Nelson in charge, each driver education class is taught not only the essentials of proper driving, but also that courtesy on the road is an important qualification for a good driver. Alternating class periods and actual driving practice gives each student ample driving experience and makes it possible for him to acquire lower insurance rates.

HEALTH

First Row: C. Penny, J. Pfarner, Mr. Nelson. Second Row: D. Agle, H. Guillaume, W. Gerspacher, D. Allen, A. Bley, J. Bolton, C. Hammond, C. Eckhardt.

THE health classes at Eden fill the need of the students for discussion of their mental and physical health. Under the direction of Mr. Nelson, the Juniors discussed the more common problems of teen-agers. A study of family relations and good health habits constituted the health classes. First aid, studies of diseases, their causes and cures, and anatomy were also included in the classes during the year. Through these classes, students are taught the value of both physical and mental health.

HOME ECONOMICS

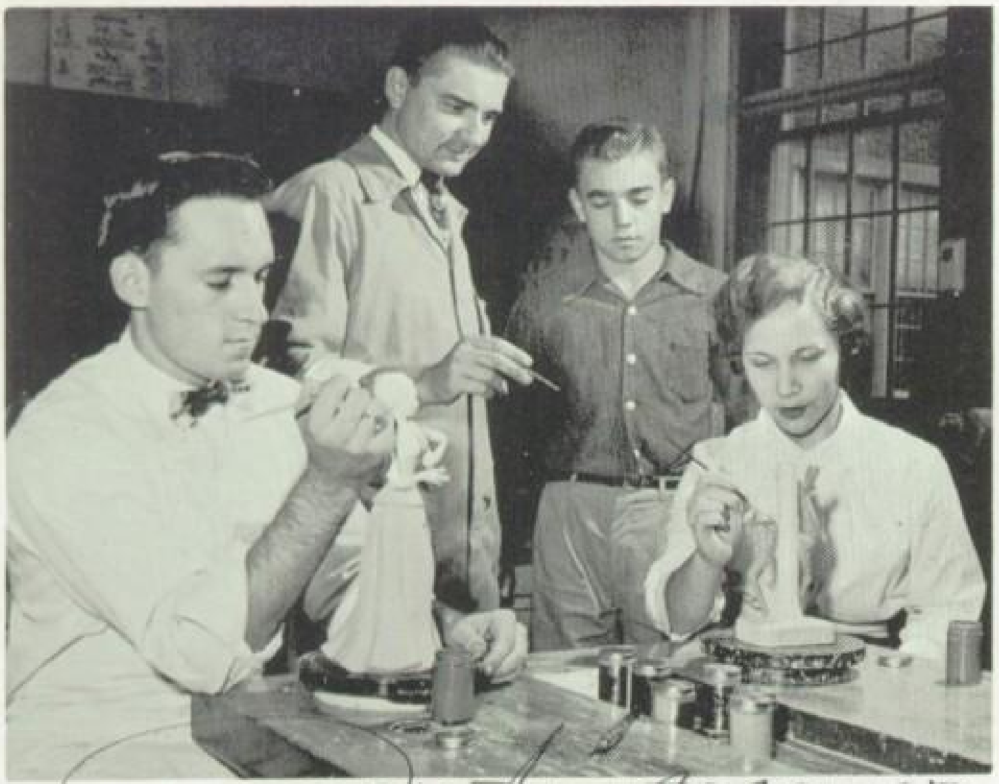
C. Novick, S. Spence, D. Adrion, B. Thiel, Mrs. Conklin, E. Haier.

THE home economics course, under the instruction of Mrs. Conklin, prepares girls for the future. The girls study food and learn to prepare meats, vegetables, and desserts. They also study housing, personal relations, clothing, child care, and first aid. As a means of furthering their education, the class went on various field trips, including one to the canning factory. They have planned and bought all the food for one week for a family of four. A new class, Marriage and Family Relations, was organized this year. This class included both boys and girls.

MATHEMATICS

Seated: L. Pontius, R. Nehring, J. Euler, R. Smith, Mrs. Brenneman. Standing: N. Neifer, K. Agle, S. Faruga, R. Stevenson, W. Heisler, W. Schassar, D. Tronolone.

ONE of the more complex and useful arts is that of mathematics. At Eden, the students are put through rigorous training to master the complexities of algebra, geometry and trigonometry. This year we were most fortunate in having Mrs. Brenneman as instructor. Through these branches of mathematics, students acquire an ability to reason intelligently, aiding them in the future. For these reasons, mathematics occupies a well-deserved niche in the school curriculum.



INDUSTRIAL ARTS

J. Kasinski, Mr. Mergler, J. Stang, R. Kader.

LEARNING to be true artists and craftsmen in the fullest sense of the word--this is the aim and goal of the Industrial Arts classes and their instructors, Mr. Mergler and Mr. Pempsell. This course instills principles of tasteful design and good art in the amateur artists. Mechanical drawing, metal and woodworking and general shop allow the students to construct useful, attractive articles in their studies. These students will be well-fitted for their places in the world as industrial craftsmen and artists.

AN EXCELLENT CERAMIST

PHOTOGRAPHY

P. Smith, R. Monin, J. Cassata, Mr. Mergler.

PHOTOGRAPHY, as both a career and an avocation, is increasing in popularity and artistry. The photography class, under the direction of Mr. Mergler, studies the various types of cameras, proper film development, and special techniques in the enlarging of all arts which prepare them for a future in photography. The future in photography is an ever increasing, open field. Photography is an interesting and vivid career.

STUDY HALL

IN a well-balanced school program, at least one period a day is devoted to a study hall. These study halls are designed to allow students to prepare for their next day's lessons while still in school. A study hall also gives the student an opportunity to do a little extra studying during school with as few outside interruptions as possible. Most of the study halls are held in the cafeteria and in the library, where ample space is available to arrange one's materials in order to work more efficiently. These study halls are supervised by teachers during their free periods.

ART

J. Brzezicki, Mr. Lundberg, A. Burger, R. Kader.

THE innate ability to create exists in everyone; but as one grows older, one begins to feel his limitations and this ability is smothered. Art classes are an attempt to revive this ability. Mr. Lundberg's art classes have made many new drawings and paintings this year and performed a service to the school by making posters for dances, dinners, and parties. The beautiful Christmas windows were a credit to the basic art and advanced art classes; and the lobby, to the eighth grade classes.

CORRECTIVES

On Floor: E. Benzin, K. Terhune. Standing: W. Brenneman, J. Walker, Mr. Moore, W. Guillaume.

THE art of physical fitness for all is the aim of the Eden Central Physical Education Department, but we realize that everyone cannot take part in the regular students' gym classes. For the benefit of those students who are unable to participate in strenuous activities, a correctives class has been formed under the leadership of Mr. Moore. The class members perform exercises and those activities which are suited to their capabilities.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

IN keeping with the policy "a sound mind in a sound body," the Physical Education Department has set up a well-balanced program of sports designed to encourage physical fitness for all. Tennis, field hockey, volleyball, and basketball--there is a sport to interest everyone. In physical education classes, students practice and learn the art of co-ordination. Miss Palmer, Miss Smith, and Mr. Hagen instruct the students in those sports which they will enjoy for many years. It is through their fine efforts that the students of Eden Central are kept in good physical condition.

BAND DIRECTOR

Mr. Downey, D. Bower

THE Senior Band has always been one of the more important organizations at Eden. The band members, under the direction of Mr. Downey, have spent long hours diligently perfecting the various numbers which they presented before the student body and the townspeople at their many concerts and performances throughout the school year. Their brilliant performances at the Christmas Concert and at the annual Spring Concert delighted all who attended. Several members of the band were fortunate enough to be chosen to represent Eden at the All State Music Festival. The student body has also greatly appreciated the entertainment the band has provided for them by arranging several music assemblies from time to time during the year. Their fine performaces during half time at the home games during football season demonstrated how much the band actually does to encourage school spirit among the student body.

THE band, however, does not exist merely to provide entertainment for the student body at assemblies, concerts, and games. The main purpose of the band is to teach its members the value of a good musical education, and give a good basic background in music to those students who will continue to pursue their studies of music after they have graduated from Eden Central. Mr. Downey has spent many hours instructing the band members in the fundamentals of music. The band has studied carefully and learned to perform various types of musical compositions, both classical and semi-classical pieces. To add a little bit of fun to the band program, the members also studied several of the more recent popular melodies. Their diligent hours of preparation paid off for them; for the members of the Senior Band were able to turn in a fine performance at the New York State Music Festival at Fredonia.

Mrs. Gangi

AGAIN this year, the Girls' Chorus turned in an outstanding record. The girls spent several enjoyable music periods with Mrs. Gangi singing such melodies as "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "April in Portugal." Rehearsals for their concerts consumed quite a bit of time, but it was well worth the effort for the audience enjoyed the girls' performances. The chorus has learned to read three-part music and several of the girls had an opportunity to do solo work. This year the chorus attended the New York State Musical Festival at Fredonia.

MIXED Chorus, directed by Mrs. Gangi, has provided much enjoyment for the students at Eden. With the addition of a music period, the Mixed Chorus has had more time and a better opportunity to rehearse the songs they performed at the Christmas Concert and the annual Spring Concert. Besides practicing for these events, they also sing purely for the joy of singing. Folk songs, semi-classical, and popular songs are sung with enthusiasm by the members of Mixed Chorus at their twice-weekly meetings.

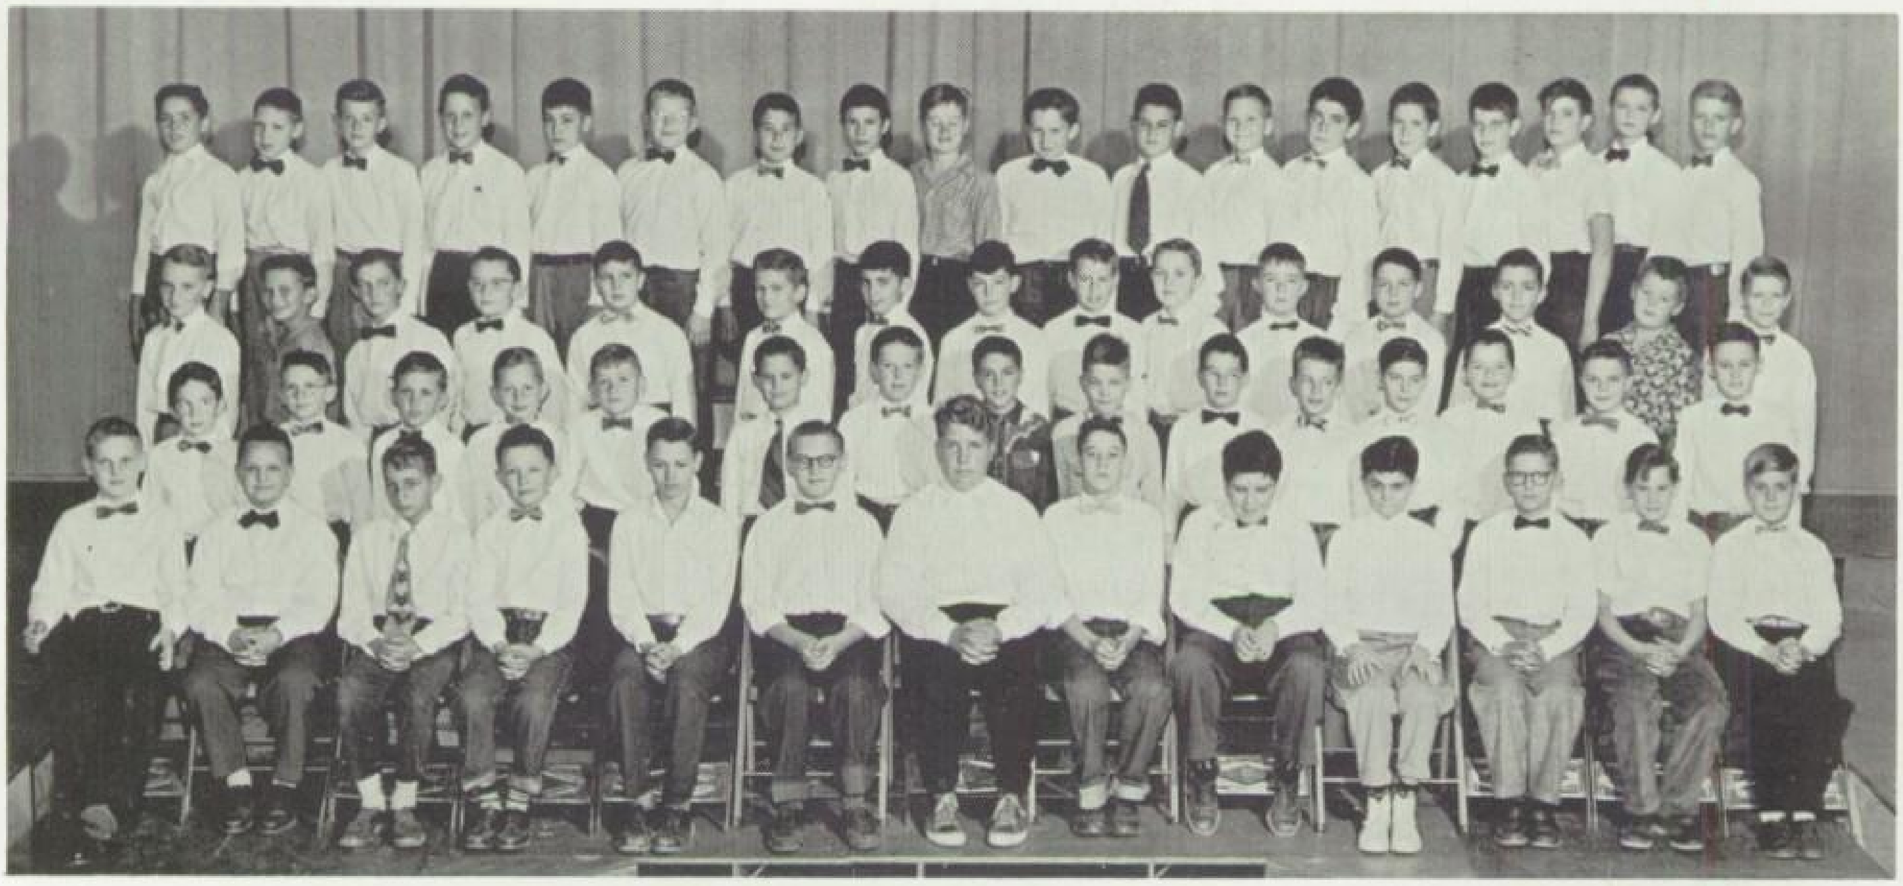
BOYS' CHOIR - GIRLS' CHORUS



THIS year Mrs. Carpenter organized the Boys' Choir, a chorus specifically for the boys in the grade school. The boys met regularly to study the fundamentals of group singing and to perform those songs which will enrich their musical knowledge and teach them a real enjoyment of various types of music that they may wish to undertake at Eden. The boys took part in several concerts during the year and turned in admirable performances. The Boys' Choir is a newly organized group, but it is able to display an enviable record for this year.

GIRLS' Grade Chorus was organized to give the girls in the grades a chance to participate in a musical activity. The girls met regularly with Mrs. Carpenter and practiced a variety of music and worked to master part singing. Their efforts were well appreciated by all who heard them sing at their many performances throughout the year. These beginning music classes are very necessary and important since it is in these classes that the children's voices are trained for more advanced work in singing.

Mrs. Carpenter, D. Huckle

JUNIOR CHORUS - TRIPLE TRIOS

THE Junior High Chorus belongs to an intermediate music group. It has advanced beyond the Grade Chorus, but its members are not yet ready for the more difficult music of the Senior High Choruses. These boys and girls and their director, Mrs. Carpenter, have shown by their brilliant performances at the Christmas and Spring Concerts that they will take a back seat to no one. Besides hard and faithful practice for their concerts, the Junior Chorus members spent much time learning the basic elements of music. The Junior High Chorus deserves its reputation as a fine musical group.

SINCE there is a high interest in music at Eden this year, Mrs. Gangi selected two groups of girls for advanced work in music. These groups of nine girls each,comprise the two Triple Trios at Eden. The girls have done outstanding work in their musical studies at school, singing at the Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and performing grade five and six music at the Fredonia Music Festival. The Triple Trios have appeared at the Eastern Star, the Rotary, and other community functions

Fourth Row: D. Dole, J. Messer, D. Krause, G. Wysocki, C. Vara, R. Zittel, J. Schmitt, W. Carpenter, W. Heisler.

THE Eden Central orchestra continued to advance in the realm of orchestral music. Because of the popularity of the band, the orchestra has had to take a back seat. In the past few years, however, there has been a marked increase in school orchestras. This organization, besides playing at various assemblies during the year, performed at the Spring Concert and the Music Contest at Fredonia, at which they played very well. We are very proud of these fine musicians and their conductor, Mr. Downey.

THE purpose of our Training Band is to give the younger students a chance to perform in a musical organization. Here they learn rehearsal procedures, group co-operation, and acquire the technique of performing in an organized musical unit to prepare for Senior Band. One of their public appearances was a trip with Mr. Downey, the director, to the Farnham School to play at a grade school assembly. The students in Training Band are practicing diligently while waiting to move to the Senior Band.

ONE of the purposes of our yearbook, the "Embers," is to present a sketch of every class. We do not want to forget those high school students who were not in school to have their pictures taken with the other members of their classes. We have, therefore, taken this picture of those students in the high school round-up.

SAFETY PATROL

THE safety patrol, under Mr. Nelson's leadership, instructs and directs the members of the student body in crossing the streets and highways at or near the school. It assists teachers and parents in the instruction of school children about safe practices in the use of streets and highways at all times and places. This group also develops leadership. The members of the safety patrol are a carefully screened group chosen with their parents' consent. The safety patrol is happy to report that it has never had an accident.

CHESS CLUB

Kneeling: J. Mackey, G. Wysocki, J. Schassar, R. Roberts, C. Rockwood, R. Thrasher. Seated: J. Kern, P. Zittel, M. Benson, J. Niedermeyr, S. Jakiel, W. Heisler. Standing: D. Walker, D. O'Day, D. Roeller.

THE Chess Club is one of the newer activities at Eden, but it continues to grow in popularity every year. Membership in this club is open to any of the boys or girls in the Junior and Senior High School. The only requirements for members are that they have a lively interest in the game of chess and know how or be willing to learn to play the game. At their meetings, Mr. Collard teaches the club members various courses of play to increase their knowledge and skill in chess.

GRADE SCHOOL ROUND-UP

First Row: S. Laing, E. Hughes, P. Sealy, W. Bley, B. Noon, B. Bianchi, H. Bruno, S. Bailey, W. Gunzelman. Second Row: D. Hammond, W. Woodworth, G. Carpenter, R. Clark, P. Sauberon, D. Woodworth, A. Messmer. Third Row: R. Lapp, E. Holehouse, P. Jordan, W. Riggs, M. Wilson, J. Richardson, A. Spaulding.

SINCE each student, regardless of how large or small he may be, is an important part of the school, we feel that he should not be omitted from the yearbook. Therefore, we have taken this picture of all those grade school students who for various reasons were unable to be present when the pictures of their respective classes were taken.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

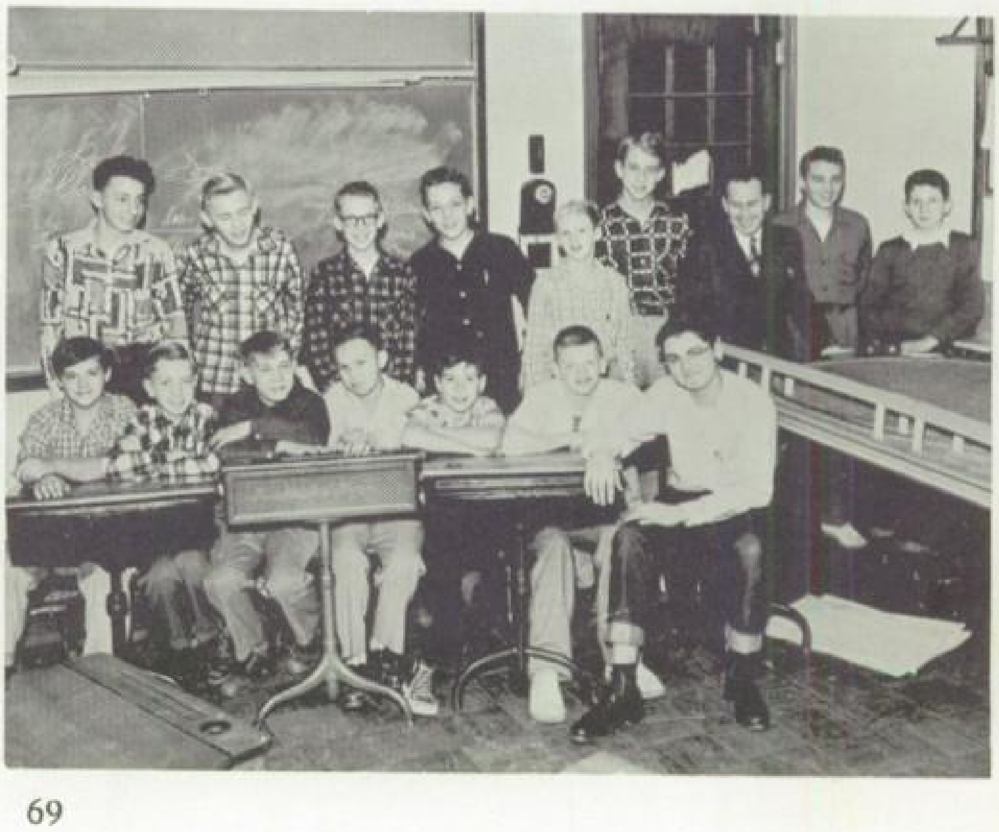
First Row: G. Zittel, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Mazuca, W. Schasser, R. Beyer. Second Row: Mr. Anderson, Mr. Pempsell, D. Gallman, Miss Palmer, Miss Smith, Mr. Hagen.

WHEN there is a need to further athletics by making training rules or raising money for uniforms and equipment, the Athletic Council is ready to help. This energetic group, composed of students, physical education instructors, the student council president, both principals, and the various coaches, meets whenever problems arise important enough to discuss. Highlights of the year are the awarding of school letters to honor those participating in sports, and the annual sports banquet.

RAILROAD CLUB

First Row: B. Palmberg, D. McGuire, S. Weinar, R. Swartz, J. Franz, W. Cheney, D. Gould. Second Row: H. DeBoi, H. Jans, J. Niedermeyr, W. Burkhart, K. Tanner, N. Badina, Mr. Christensen, R. Kramer, R. Roberts.

FLASHING lights! Smoke filled air! The sound of a whistle! Trains speeding along the tracks! These are sights familiar to the members of the Railroad Club, a new organization under the guidance of Mr. Christensen. This group, which is not only educational, but also very entertaining, has learned to assemble engines and cars themselves and lay track. They set up an industrial landscape and then began working with HO gauge. The club's officers are David Gould and William Cheney.



F. F. A.

First Row: A. Schmitt, R. Geiger, Mr. Munger, J. Wrobleski, L. Dayka, L. Wilson, R. Schmitt. Second Row: L. Morey, H. Jans, W. Jones, G. Miceli, A. Mammoser, F. Luczak, R. Wittmeyer, T. Mroz, A. SUPPLEMENTING the regular agriculture courses at Eden is a branch of the Future Farmers of America. The F.F.A.'s chief aim is to unite those students, who are interested in farming as their future occupation. The members work with Mr. Munger on projects in connection with new farming methods. This year's officers are: president, Joseph Wrobleski; vice president, Leonard Dayka; secretary, Robert Geiger; treasurer, Allan Schmitt; reporter, Lyndon Wilson; sentinel, Ronald Schmitt.

ONE of the few clubs organized exclusively for younger members is the 4-H. In our school, membership in the 4-H is available to any of the boys in the fifth grade through the high school. These boys are supervised in their activities by Mr. Munger and have the opportunity to participate in any of the various activities offered to them by the 4-H club. They may become interested in dairying, home gardening, poultry raising, vegetable growing, or any one of many more such worthwhile projects.

THE S.P.C.D. is a new organization composed of the drum section of the Senior Band. The formal name of this ensemble is The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Drummers. The name may be misleading, but the members of the S.P.C.D. are really serious about this new musical group. The S.P.C.D. helped to stimulate enthusiasm and school spirit among the students by performing at pep rallies and sports affairs. A former student at Eden, Brent Baird, is the S.P.C.D.'s only honorary member.

THE Future Homemakers of America, a national organization, has a branch in Eden. There are two separate clubs, a senior high group and a junior high group, directed by Mrs. Conklin. However, they work together as one group in helping the community, home, and School. They learn sewing and knitting, and study the values and preparations of various foods. They collect clothing for needy families both home and abroad. By their different recreational activities, they learn to live and work together as a group.

First Row: E. Thrasher, C. DeBoi, J. Cohoon, J. Wright, K. Smith. Second Row: Mrs. Greenwood, B. Thiel, S. Spence, G. Merchant, J. Slaugenhaupt, J. Hartley, J. Horton.

UNDER the guidance of Mrs. Greenwood, the school library staff helps the library to function properly. The staff, whose members are girls in the seventh through twelfth grades, helps the younger children to select suitable books. Checking books in and out, placing the returned ones on the shelves, and keeping the library neat, are only a few of the duties belonging to this staff. We are taking this opportunity to thank the staff for the fine job they have done in the library this year.

DANCE BAND

First Row: M. Haven, J. Schmitt, A. Schmitt, R. Kehe, J. Zulick, R. Schmitt. Second Row: G. Agle, R. Yager, D. Krause, J. Messer, R. Peck.

EDEN'S dance band, this year, gave its members an advanced background in music. Under the direction of Mr. Downey, the band learned to play both classic and non-classic songs as well as commercial jazz. The dance band members, besides deriving much pleasure from working together, have provided many enjoyable melodies for the student body. This year, under Robert Kehe's leadership, the band played at our Christmas program and for some of the dances after the basketball games.

Representatives Sue Beehler, Bill Heisler, and Bob Page spent three days in August at the Red Cross Training Center at Camp Forty Acres. AS we look back through the scenes, we find that there are sixteen of us who have been together during our thirteen years of school. We began by learning our A, B, C's and then ventured into new problems of spelling, reading and arithmetic. There were the usual sieges of the chicken pox and mumps too. Now that we have finally reached our climax as seniors and are looking forward to graduation, we are starting to sketch in our future, hoping as all artists do, that it will be a masterpiece.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

H. Case, Mr. Mergler, J. Cassata, P. Walterich, J. Kasinski.

A CLUB has been organized for those students interested in furthering their knowledge of photography. Under the leadership of Mr. Mergler, the members learn the different types and uses of cameras, and how to develop pictures. Frequently they are seen taking pictures at our school activities and snapping surprise shots during school hours. Through this club, the members also learn how to acquire original angle-shot techniques, and they enjoy a hobby that may develop into a life's occupation.

STAGE CREW

First Row: Mr. Mergler, Mr. Pempsell, R. Stickney, B. Gier, H. Case. Second Row: R. Zulick, J. Clark, G. Guenther, W. Stegmeier, G. Schwanz, R. Lakely, J. Slaugenhaupt.

EXPERT behind-the-scene help is essential to a successful stage show. The boys on the stage crew, under Mr. Mergler's supervision, have aptly filled this need at Eden. They have given invaluable assistance at all concerts, plays, and other stage performances. By operating the curtains, lighting, and sound effects, the stage crew has actually been learning a great deal about the technical part of stage productions, while at the same time, they are providing a valuable service to the school.

THE Sports Band is one of the main reasons for the school spirit at Eden. At any home football or basketball game, the band is not only seen, but heard. The members of the Sports Band, directed by Mr. Downey, do more than their share to encourage the team. Their lively versions of popular school and college songs have won much praise from the student body and made them a popular musical organization at Eden. At pep rallies, the band is ever willing to oblige with just one more rousing song.

SPORTS ADVERTISING COMMITTEE

First Row: K. Edwards, B. Feasley, S. Beehler, M. Phatiger. Second Row: J. Messer, E. Gould, D. Krause, D. Bower, S. Todd, A. Fraser, P. Miller.

THE Sports Advertising Committee is a newly formed organization under the jurisdiction of the Student Council. The committee tries to increase the attendance at sports events throughout the school year by giving publicity to the schedules through drawings and announcements over the P.A. system. This volunteer group of students spent several activity periods in the art room, supervised by Mr. Lundberg, drawing posters publicizing the games for that particular week.

THE monitor system is operated by the Student Council to bring about order in the halls. Two monitors are elected by the freshmen through the senior classes. These boys and girls are on duty in the halls between classes to enforce the hall rules. Those students who are found breaking any of these rules are issued tickets to appear at Student Court. Regular meetings are held to deal with problems and suggestions for making this system more efficient in keeping the halls free from confusion.

EMPHASIS on student government at Eden has resulted in a Student Council which is continually growing in experience. Student Court, the monitor system, and the Sports Advertising Committee are all responsible to Student Council. One of the main aims of Student Council was to purchase a sign for the outside of the school to publicize the schedule of school events. They accomplished this by sponsoring dances and a variety show. The council also organized dances after the home basketball games.

STUDENT COURT - AIR RAID

OFFICERS: D. Mehs, J. Wrobleski, M. Phatiger, J. Miller.

J. Wrobleski, L. Pontius, N. Cotten, D. Mehs, M. Phatiger, J. Miller.

STUDENT Court was established to enable students at Eden to learn the proper procedure in a courtroom and to give them an even greater measure of student government. A judge, prosecuting and defense attorney, and a jury, chosen from the student body help to provide a realistic attitude in the court. The accused offenders are allowed to present witnesses on their behalf before the case is decided by the jury. Those found guilty are assigned to detention hall or report to assist certain teachers.

IN these days when the danger of an atomic attack is an ever-present possibility, it is essential that everyone should know the procedure in the event of an attack. Air raid drills are held each year to familiarize the student body with the rules to be followed in the event of such an attack. Through these drills, students learn the value of being able to follow directions. At a given signal, they proceed to their assigned posts, shield their faces with their arms, and wait for an all-clear signal.

THE National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Pierce, has as its main ideals: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Those seniors who enjoy the coveted honor of membership in this highly selective group are as follows: Jane Bauer, Yvonne Fox, Dallas Mehs, Jeanne Shepker, and Joseph Wrobleski. These busy members have conducted all the fund-raising campaigns for Community Chest and March of Dimes, have distributed and collected bags for Good Will Industries, and helped with other projects. They are preparing the installation assembly during which the beautiful candle-lighting service will be conducted. At that time three more seniors will be tapped. Since "Embers" will not be seen by students before the assembly, we may divulge names of new members to be tapped: John Dempsey, Doris Gallman, and Mary Laine Phatiger.

Y. Fox, Secretary; J. Bauer, Vice President; D. Mehs, Liaison Officer; Mrs. Pierce; J. Wrobleski, President; J. Shepker, Treasurer.

THE staff of the "Tower," Eden's monthly newspaper, sketches a picture of the events at school. The "Tower" reports news and sports events of interest to the students and faculty; the "Who" and "Just Picture" columns highlight the latest happenings of the students and a special column features Eden's alumni. Under co-editors, Yvonne Fox and Judy Wright, and advisor, Miss Witzleben, the "Tower" staff has taken several field trips including a trip to the annual Press Conference at St. Bonaventure College at Olean. For some of the reporters, this work has led to a decision to continue journalism as a lifetime career. The student body proved their respect for the "Tower" last fall by responding to the need for reporters, thus enabling the "Tower" to continue being printed for the enjoyment of all.

"ALL the world's a stage," said Shakespeare. This famous quotation certainly does apply to the Dramatics Club in our school. Membership in the club is open to students who are aspiring amateur actors. President Dallas Mehs and the club members have spent a truly interesting year, thoroughly enjoying themselves while learning first-hand information about the technicalities of putting on a successful stage play. This year the members have concentrated their efforts in producing a hilarious three-act comedy, "Books and Crooks," as the annual school play.

The office of Principal Arnold Q. Henley of Alexander Hamilton High School becomes a hiding place for two notorious bank robbers, the "Prof" and his accomplice, Francis. The discovery that Principal Henley and the "Prof" are exact doubles sets off a hilarious chain of events that keeps everybody in the school thoroughly confused and mystified. Mr. Lewis Fischer, the director, and the cast really brought the play to life and provided much merriment for the audience by their antics on the stage.

AFTER a losing streak that began with a defeat by East Aurora at the season's start, the Eden "Raiders" regained their composure and ended the season on a happier note. The football team, composed mainly of veterans and sophomores, was frustrated in its efforts to achieve victory in the early part of the season but the boys and their coach, Mr. Mazuca, never lost their fight. The boys were amply rewarded for their efforts when the team defeated Lake Shore 6 to 0 in the closing game of the season. John Dempsey was chosen for the all league team, and Robert Nehring and Robert Kehe gained honorable mention on the same team. Although the team will be losing several members this year, among them co-captains James Miller and William Schassar, there is great promise for a better team next year. Many excellent players will be promoted from the J. V. football team to the varsity squad next season.

"YEA team!" "Let's go, E.C.S.!" The Eden gymnasium echoes with these and many similar shouts from December through early March during basketball season. Since basketball is an important sport at Eden, the whole student body is very proud of the boys on the team and takes an active interest in all the games. The team has earned the respect of everyone, for, although they did not win every game, the boys kept up their courage and put everything they had into each game.

Although this year's team was lacking in height and experience, the boys possessed a tremendous amount of fighting spirit. They more than made up for their lack of size by employing a fast breaking offense. Despite several defeats in league games in the first half of the season, Coach Nelson and the team members remained optimistic for the remainder of the schedule. At the halfway mark, the addition of several promising J.V. players strengthened the team.

BAD weather and a full schedule forced the Eden baseball team to look for experience rather than victories. Though the team did not finish with a good average, the maroon and white will have many veterans returning to help improve its record next season. After opening the season with two victories over Pine Hill and the team's arch rival, North Collins, the Eden Raiders suddenly went into a tailspin. Under a grueling schedule of playing daily, the club, lacking hitting support, was not able to gain another victory until the last game on their schedule against Springville. The highlight of the season came in the last game on a rain-drenched playing field at Springville. Captain Mike Shea hit a bases-loaded home run which enabled the team to gain an 8 to 7 victory over their opponents. The boys aren't discouraged by a poor season but have great hopes for a much-improved season in the spring.

ONE of the more common sights here at Eden every spring is that of the track team faithfully practicing their high jumping, pole vaulting, or broad jumping on the field behind the school. This diligent practice has enabled the team to defeat a great many of their opponents in inter-school track meets. The track team is perhaps not so well known to the student body at Eden as are some of the other sports, but the boys and their coach, Mr. Hagen, haven't allowed themselves to be discouraged by that fact. They have achieved the enviable record of having won fourteen consecutive dual track meets in the last two seasons of their inter-school track competition. The team members have every reason to believe that their winning streak will be continued through still another season of track competition. The fine work the boys have done is appreciated and enjoyed by everyone in the school.

Best of everything,
Daniel Hagen

OUR J.V. football team certainly deserves a great deal of credit. Though they didn't win a game all season, the boys had the pep and loyalty that kept them fighting every second of each game they played. Each team member demonstrated the co-operation and good sportsmanship which are so necessary to build a truly good team. The boys and their coaches, Mr. Gray and Mr. Hagen, are offering no excuses for the poor record this season, but are putting all their efforts into developing a good winning team for next season.

THIS year the J.V. basketball team has experienced one of the best seasons it has every had. The boys, coached by Mr. Christensen, fought hard to win each game. The team furnished plenty of thrills in each game and won many cheers from the spectators. The fighting spirit, loyalty, and good sportsmanship displayed by the boys enabled them to take defeat with good grace and to triumph over their victories. Eden can certainly be proud of the boys on the J.V. basketball team this year and in the years to come as well.

TWO and one half miles of woods, roads, mud, and ever-present weather conditions are only a few of the many obstacles the cross country team must endure. Our record-setting team this year coached by Mr. Pempsell has shown a tremendous amount of school spirit and good sportsmanship. John Ball, a new member of the team from England, set a new record for the course. The varsity squad promises to be even better next year for most of the veterans will return and excellent material will be moving up from the J.V. squad.

THE J.V. cross country, coached by Mr. Pempsell, is one of the newer additions to Eden's long line of athletic activities. This sport is identical to the varsity cross country except that it allows younger boys to participate, and it prepares them for the stiff competition of the varsity squad. J.V. cross country is not very well known at Eden, but the fine performances given by the boys and their loyalty and school spirit are gaining recognition, attention, and the place they deserve in Eden's long line of sports.

WHIRLING batons! Sparkling maroon and white uniforms! These are common sights to the spectators at many of the school sports events when the twirlers are performing with the band. The girls' dazzling performances are always enthusiastically received with much applause from everyone who views their twirling. Each week the girls in Twirling Club devote much time to perfecting their various routines. This work is plainly evident in the high quality of the girls' many performances. The school can certainly be proud of these talented twirlers and of the enjoyment they have provided for everyone.

A VARIED schedule of sports to interest everyone was the goal of the intramural program. Girls' intramurals, under the direction of Miss Palmer and Miss Smith, included field hockey, basketball, and volleyball. Bowling was an addition to both the girls' and boys' program this year. Inter-school playdays brought teams from area schools to compete against our girls. These playdays encouraged the students to engage in friendly competition. Mr. Hagen and Mr. Moore, the boys' directors, arranged a schedule for the junior and senior high boys which included football, baseball, and basketball.

"IN maroon and white array, don't they look fine!" These words, taken from a school song, might best describe our cheerleaders as they are seen at the games encouraging the boys by their peppy cheers. The girls are constantly striving to promote school spirit and good sportsmanship among the student body. Varsity Captain Mary Laine Phatiger, J. V. Captain Pat Colvin, and the other cheerleaders spent much time each week practicing old routines and developing new ones to be used at the football, basketball, and baseball games. Their enthusiastic cheering at the pep rallies has boosted school spirit and has helped to give the team the feeling that the whole school is really behind them.

This year the cheerleaders, with the help of their instructors, Miss Palmer and Miss Smith, attempted something new by sponsoring a cheerleading clinic at Eden. Cheerleaders from approximately thirty-five schools in Western New York participated in the clinic to discuss such topics as promoting school spirit, sportsmanship, and training rules. The clinic was a success, with cheerleaders participating from schools as far away as Jamestown and Lockport. This clinic demonstrated that the cheerleaders are eager for advice which will enable them to improve their routines.

MRS. CLEO P. MORGESTER

AFTER having given nearly a lifetime of service to the public schools in New York State, Mrs. Cleo P. Morgester, a first grade teacher at Eden Central School, is retiring as of July 1, 1955.

From 1903 through 1909 Mrs. Morgester taught in the rural schools in the Springville area. From 1922 through 1955 she very capably served as a first grade teacher in the Eden system.

Mrs. Morgester has given most generously and unselfishly of her time and energy to the cause of public education in America, and to the development of better citizens for these United States. It is this sort of unfailing service that has been the backbone of the communities of our country since the turn of the century. The people of the Eden area owe Mrs. Morgester a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid.

Edwin C. Peck
Supervising Principal

WE, the members of the Class of 1955, are deeply grateful for the lessons, friendship and patience that Mrs. Morgester taught us away back there in the first grade, twelve years ago. Surely no person whom we shall ever meet in the future can ever surpass the skill of her master artistry in molding the lives of young children.

ST. GEORGE NURSING HOME

PLEASANT grounds surrounding the Eden St. George Nursing Home lend a quiet, healthful atmosphere for those living at the home. A spacious recreation room, cheerfully done in grey and red, accentuated by a large fireplace, is available to the patients to entertain themselves with television, radio, and books.

This book printed by Velvatone, a special process of lithographic printing. Sole producers: Wm. J. Keller Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. No other printing firm is authorized to use the Velvatone method.

EDEN FOREVER

Farewell, Dear Eden Central,
Your staff and students dear;
In busy, happy service,
I've loved you many a year.

God bless and keep you always,
With standards high and true;
Though new fields call me elsewhere,
I'll cherish years with you.

AT A TIME LIKE THIS
AFTER THE "GOOD OLD

IT'S BEEN 2 MONTHS'
NOW THAT WE'VE BEEN APART AND ALTHOUGH
I'M STILL KIND OF MIXE
UP I DO HAVE SOME IDEA OF WHAT I WANT TO DO. AFTER SCHOOL LETS OUT (I THINK) AND AFTER
YOU YOURSELF GRAD-UATE I WANT TO
COME BACK. I WOUL
AFTER JUNE BUT I DON'T WANT TO BE SELFISH AND
RUIN YOUR SR. Y
SO - AS BOTH OF
US KNOW - A LO
MAY HAPPEN IN THAT YEAR AND
IT WELL MAY HAPPEN, BUT IF IT'S THE
REAL THING
EVERYTHING
WILL TURN
OUT. BY-
